The Korean Society for Early Childhood Education

President's Greeting

Greetings

The theme for 2017 KSECE's International Conference is "Re-weaving early childhood education in a post-human era." We are all aware that the post-human era will require new and interweaving perspectives in the field of early childhood education. Thus, this conference will address multiple perspectives of early childhood education reflected in countries' current issues in various areas. This year's international conference will mark another milestone in KSECE's professional work on the post-human era and early childhood education. In particular, we want to illuminate what different social, philosophical, and cultural issues are embedded in the post-human era and in early childhood education.

We have invited many famous scholars, practitioners, and policy-makers from all over the world to join us and to share their ideas and perspectives on issues regarding early childhood education in a post-human era.

First, Dr. Michel Vandebroek, a celebrated professor in the field of early childhood education in a post-human era at the Univ. of Ghent in Belgium, will give a keynote speech. We will also offer numerous venues where you can meet with distinguished scholars, Dr. Liselott Mariett Olsson, a professor from the Univ. of Stockholm, Sweden, Dr. Riyo Kadota-Korogi, a professor from Seinan Gakuin Univ., Japan, and Dr. Su Fen Cheong, a secretary from the Association for Early Childhood Educators Singapore. We hope that this conference will serve as a platform for a dialogue that will enhance academic, practical, and political endeavors. Once again, welcome to the 2017 KSECE's 9th International Conference, and we thank you for ensuring its quality and success by honoring us with your attendance. We invite all professionals and educators in the field of "Early Childhood Education and Child Care" to 2017 KSECE's 9th international Conference.
