2012 Call for Papers

The 7th Biennial International Conference

Establishing the Future Research Agenda for Quality Early Childhood Education

September 21 – 23, 2012

Duksung Women's University, Seoul, Korea

The theme of the KSECE 7th International Conference is “Establishing the Future Research Agenda for Quality Early Childhood Education.” The conference addresses idiosyncrasies of contemporary research paradigms, which underpin the conduct of early childhood research all over the world. In particular, we want to examine what substantial contributions have been made from all the previous research endeavors, which adopted a variety of research methodology in order to improve the quality of early childhood education. The sub-topics under the theme include 1) Rethinking Qualitative Research in Early Childhood Education, 2) Rethinking Early Childhood Education through Quantitative Research, and 3) better early childhood education with Action Research. We would like to invite researchers and practitioners from all over the world to join us and share ideas and perspectives on issues regarding better early childhood education through establishing the future research agenda of ECE.
